

SHARED CULTURAL SPACES

ISLAM AND THE WEST IN THE ARTS AND SCIENCES

A conference presented by the Religious Studies Program at the University of Minnesota and The National Endowment for the Humanities

THURS. FEBRUARY 24 - SAT. FEBRUARY 26
University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Explore Islam's engagement with the world through literature, science, architecture, arts, and contemporary media. From a medieval philosophical fable to the meeting of St. Francis with the Egyptian Sultan, al-Kamil; from the Taj Mahal to Moorish buildings in America; from Persian scientists to Renaissance European astronomers; and from multi-media critique to the world premiere of a dramatization of Hayy ibn Yaqzan, the conference travels across continents from the 12th century to the 21st.

Keynotes by
Wadad Kadi (U of Chicago)
Anouar Majid (U of New England)

Conference sessions with Nadar Ardalan, Sussan Babaie,
Mohammad B. Ghaffari, Ingrid Mattson, Hamid
Rasoul, George Saliba, and many others

Full schedule and registration:
<http://z.umn.edu/sharedspaces>
More info: 612-625-6393

Free and open to the public.

Image: Tabula Rogeriana, al-Idrisi, 1154
(facs.1951) James Ford Bell Library,
University of Minnesota (1951 mEd)

